

Servicing Av-Gad Alarms

Valued Av-Gad customer,

Thank you for buying Av-Gad products.

It's recommended to service your alarm products by professional alarm technician, in some cases the programming code been change for security reasons, without the code your system can't be programmed.

Av-Gad we can not support none approved customer or alarm systems owner.

If you need technical support it's recommended to contact the system installer or country distributor.

Material on this site is intended solely for authorized installers, any changes in hardware or software in Av-Gad products are by user own and sole responsibility.

Any changes in hardware and software of the system or other accessory might cause a change in function.

Servicing the systems by you or none approved installer is on your own risk.

Av-Gad Systems Ltd

International technical support

